JAPAN Has Been Warranted.

The Searching of the Steamer Sydney Fully Warranted.

THE TWO ADVENTURERS RELEASED

The Alleged Americans Who Had Contracted with China to Destroy Japan's Navy—Great Britain's Demands for the Chung King Affront—Anarchy in Corea.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 1.—The steamship Victoria, thirteen days from Yokohama, arrived yesterday. The Associated Press correspondent writing Nov. 17 says: No trouble is expected to result from the affair of the steamer Sydney. The United States government is understood to regard the action of Japan as justifiable, on the grounds of self defense, and Great Britain coincides, although some form of explanation or apology may be deemed desirable. France has taken a less easy view of the situation, but is not disposed to make serious difficulties. Her opinion appears to be that the exigency was not sufficiently alarming to call for so grave a measure as the removal of passengers from the French mail steamship.

Later developments indicate that the self declared explosive experts were irresponsible speculators, if not imposters. Reports were received connecting Colonel Fred Grant with the undertaking, and his name carried with it a weight which would not have been accorded to unknown adventurers. It is well known that Li Hung Chang holds the memory of General Grant in reverence, and he would presumably have been disposed to place unusual resources at the disposal of a party representing his son. The sums alleged to have been promised to Colonel Grant, and which have been actually advanced to his agents, correspond exactly with those set forth by the travelers on the Gaelic and Sydney.

Taking these and other co-relative facts into consideration, the Japanese government believed itself under the necessity of guarding against the threatened danger. The French diplomatic and consular officials were powerless to intervene, even had they been inclined to do so, and, relying upon the authorized rulings of international law, Japan availed herself of what she claims as a belligerent right. The American passengers were released on Nov. 12, after taking oaths not to aid China in any manner, and expressing in writing their gratitude for the leniency of their treatment by the Japanese government. A telegram from Paris announces that the French government has referred several points of the Sydney affair to its legal advisers, who pronounce judgment that Japan acted within her rights, and is not liable to censure under the rules of international law.

The feeling of the populace is strongly against intervention in negotiations for peace by the United States or by any western country, and the Japanese government considers that nothing but an application from China herself will be acceptable.

As previously reported, the minister of of foreign affairs recently sent a communication to the governor of the port at Kanagarvain, in which it was stated that Japanese subjects serving on board United States ships in Japanese ports must be regarded by the government as coming under the jurisdiction of the imperial courts whenever charged with offenses against the law. As this is the opinion maintained by the United States, the question was brought up for diplomatic discussion.

It now appears that the foreign minister had no intention to deliver an ex-cathedra judgment on the subject. A native newspaper which printed his letter to the local governor has been fined twenty yen for publishing private official documents without permission. The correspondence under consideration conveyed only the individual views of the writer. The incident will, therefore, pass without further debate.

The Japanese newspapers are amusing themselves by publishing maps of China in partitions, showing the condition it will be in after the war has had its full effect. Most of these maps represent Japan in possession of the provinces of Shingging, Chihili, Sang, Guing, Kiahgan, Chekiang and Fu Kien, and as a result the vice royalties of Shanzi, Monon and Annui. To England are assigned Kwong. Huna, Hupeh and Shensi; to Germany, Kwangai, Kweichow and Hainau, and to France, Yunan, Szechuen and Kangsuh. The territory of Mongolia, and nothing more, is set apart for Russia.

That Great Britain has assumed an extremely threatening attitude towards China is asserted with great emphasis and directness by correspondents in Pekin and Tientsin. The apparent neglect of her former power to demand reparation for the Chung King affront (when Japanese passengers sailing under the British flag were outraged and robbed by Chinamen) has never ceased to be a matter of surprise, but if reports now current are well founded it is evident that the wrath of the English government is not slumbering for a moment. We now hear of considerable preparation for the enforcement of satisfaction. Admiral Freemantle has summoned the entire British fleet to meet at Shanghai to await the arrival of a strong military force from India, the landing of which at Chusan is to be effected without delay. The British envoy is to demand payment of a large sum, the degradation and dismissal of the chief magistrate holding office at Tientsin, and an avowal of regret, accompanied by a salute to the flag from the gunboats of the Taku forts. If these conditions are not promptly fulfilled troops and warships will commence reprisals.

Affairs in Corea appear to be in a very bad state, despite official Japanese statements. The interference of Japan towards putting everything right appears to have had the contrary effect by putting everything wrong. Anarchy stalks throughout the southern part of the kingdom. It is said that there are armies of malcontents ranging from 20,000 to 50,000 strong. The entire population may be said to be hostile to the occupation of the Japanese, and though the wretched king, who is as plastic clay in the hands of a potter, has been directed to issue an edict that every one is to be beheaded who molests the Japanese, but small heed is likely to be paid to such a sweeping order, for if it were possible to carry it out Corea would lose a very heavy percentage of her male population.

NEW YORK'S BANK ROBBERY.

Lawyer Peschell Declares That Seeley Wishes to Surrender.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The will of the late Frederick Baker has been made public. It leaves all his property, personal and real estate, to his wife, Amelia E. Baker. Mr. Ogden, attorney for the Baker family, said: "All the real estate, the equity in which is not more than $60,000, is in the widow's name. The only thing thus far found to connect Baker with the Shoe and Leather bank is an old pass book, the account of which is perfectly straight."

Bench warrants have been issued for Seeley's arrest, and the bank offers $5,000 reward. Ten indictments have been found against the defaulting bookkeeper. Six of these are for grand larceny and four for forgery in the third degree.

Charles J. Peschell, the criminal lawyer, of Jersey City, says that Seeley is not in Canada, as has been reported. On Wednesday Peschell had a consultation with United States Commissioner Shields and District Attorney McFarlane on the subject of bail, if Seeley would surrender. The lawyer said that Lawyer Angel was aware where Seeley was, and could produce him within a short time. Peschell furthermore stated that Seeley could secure $20,000, and if he was sure this would be accepted he would surrender himself.

TORONTO, Dec. 1.—Seeley, the defaulting New York bookkeeper, it is known, was in this city yesterday, but since the dispatch came offering a reward for him his whereabouts cannot be ascertained.

A Chicago Domestic Tragedy.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Three people—father, daughter and son-in-law—were probably fatally shot in a family quarrel at the home of Frederick Friesch, a carpenter, at 430 North Ashland avenue. Friesch and his son-in-law, Thomas Eckhardt, after a bitter quarrel, clinched, and in the struggle fell to the floor. Mrs. Eckhardt, fearing that her husband would be badly beaten, secured a revolver and opened fire, wounding her father. Friesch wrested the revolver from her, fired two bullets into her body, shot her fleeing husband and ended the affair by sending a bullet into his own head. Physicians say all will probably die.

Terribly Burned While Intoxicated.

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 1.—James Croker, a colored barber of this city, while intoxicated, accidentally upset a gasoline stove in his shop, and was immediately in flames. His companions ran out and left him to his fate. Frank Ward, of the Washington baseball team, who resides here, rushed to the scene, entered the shop and succeeded in dragging out Croker. The unfortunate man was removed to the hospital, where doubts of his recovery are expressed.

Fined for Usurping Office.

TRENTON, Dec. 1.—Chief Justice Beasley filed a memorandum holding as constitutional the law under which the Democratic board of freeholders of Camden county was legislated out of office, and fining the members $200 each for usurping office. Among the Democrats fined were William J. Thompson, the "Duke of Gloucester." This ends the fight between the Democratic and Republican boards of Camden county.

Fatally Shot His Employer.

HENDERSON, Ky., Dec. 1.—Councilman W. E. Labry was shot in the back of the head by Lee Powell, colored, with a shotgun, completely removing his scalp. He will probably die. Powell was employed by Mr. Labry, who has the contract for the irrigation ditch now being dug at Elm Flats, and they had a quarrel about wages. Powell escaped. If caught he will probably be lynched.

Peter Maher Means Business.

BOSTON, Dec. 1.—Peter Maher's acceptance of the purse offered by the Atlantic club of Coney Island does not place any restrictions upon his prospective opponent, Bob Fitzsimmons. To further emphasize Maher's desire for a battle his backer and manager, J. J. Quinn, says he will bet $5,000 that Fitzsimmons cannot make good his boast that he would put Maher out in six rounds.

Three Prisoners Burned to Death.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Dec. 1.—At Polkton, this state, three negroes—Henry Butler, Oscar Thompson and Hamp May—were burned to death early in the morning. They had been arrested for trivial offenses, and were placed in jail, and it is supposed that during the night they attempted to burn their way out, and, losing control of the fire, brought on themselves their own destruction.

Mines Menaced by Forest Fires.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., Dec. 1.—Destructive forest fires are burning on the Line and Henry mountains, and although every possible means is being exerted to extinguish them by the coal companies owning the land, the conflagrations continue to rage without showing the least sign of cessation. BLOODTHIRSTY TURKS.

Another Chapter Anent the Atrocities in Armenia.

NAILED HEAD DOWNWARD TO POSTS

Then the Victims Were Drenched Alternately by Hot and Cold Water—The Streets of Armenian Villages Made to Run with Blood—Horrors Unparalleled.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Dr. C. Thoumaian, who was one of the Armenian physicians at Herrick college, Marsovan, Asia Minor, and who was sentenced to death and forced to undergo terrible, disgusting tortures, being finally released through the intervention of Great Britain in July, 1893, furnishes the Associated Press with the latest details of the Turkish outrages, which have just come into his possession. Dr. Thoumaian writes:

"It was necessary that the blood of thousands should be shed in order to bring the Armenian question on the tapis. But it is almost impossible to get full details, the guilty Turk preventing every possible escape of news. However, I have learned the following:

"The chief of police of Moosh, which is the headquarters of the Sassoun district, went with a number of gendarmes to the village of Tehurig and nailed the head man and some others head downward to posts, beat them and drenched them alternately with hot and cold water.

"The chief of police then attempted to dishonor the wife of one of his poor victims, and the unfortunate woman, seizing a knife, plunged it into the chief's brain, whereupon the gendarmes made a general attack upon the peasants. A stubborn struggle resulted, in which many of the peasants were wounded, and thirty of them taken to prison at Moosh. The whole village of Tehurig was charged with sedition, and the gendarmes were not reprimanded, as they were only carrying out the orders of their superiors.

"The Armenian villages on the plains of Moosh and Birlis, in the vicinity of Sassoun and Van, have been fired and their streets made to run with blood. From Marnig over 100 oxen and 1,000 sheep have been driven off, and the same has occurred at Colossig and Havaborig.

"The villages of Kozloo and Sheik-Aghoob have been sacked by Kurds, and two young girls were made captives. At another village a miller was burned alive. At Hanzasheik three Armenians were murdered. This is only a daily tale of the horrors in the villages on the plains of Moosh. If these authentic details come from the villages on the open plain, what must the truth be in distant places in the mountains of Sassoun?

"In September 112 Kurds appeared in the village of Baghdig, ostensibly for the purchase of supplies, eating, drinking and carousing all day. They plundered the village, robbed the church of its costly vessels and rode away. On the day following the band of Kurds raided the village of Farough and stole fifty head of cattle and a herd of sheep belonging to the celebrated Monastery of Varaks. In the village of Daghcenan two youths were openly butchered by Kurds before the eyes of their helpless relatives.

"I could give pages and pages of such horrors done to my people. None of these wrongs have been redressed, nor will they be so long as Bahri Pasha, himself a Kurd, remains governor general of Van. He is the greatest enemy of the Armenian race. When the porte tried to hinder the Armenians from emigrating to Russia and Persia this ferocious fanatic explained that the porte could get rid of the Christians and at the same time get their land. Since October, 1893, 179 families have emigrated from Aghpac to Persia.

"Quite recently Bahri Pasha made a tour of that district and confiscated all the property of absent Armenians, including those who had gone away on business. Those who returned were thrown into prison. In order to support Bahri Pasha's exterminating policy a number of Kurdish Beys, who had been imprisoned for misdeeds, were sent into the Sassoun district by the Turks, who marked their prison sheets with the word "escaped" Unless the powers act promptly there will be a record of a succession of hideous outrages."

It is presumed that this letter was written previous to the commencement of the wholesale massacres which have been referred to in the Associated Press dispatches.

The Football Championship.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—Discussing the proposed challenge to Yale a director of the University of Pennsylvania Athletic club said: "No action has yet been taken on the question of again challenging Yale, and the matter has not even been officially considered. I can say to you, however, that should Yale defeat Princeton this afternoon it is highly probable that a special meeting will be called to consider the advisability of sending such a challenge. Then if Yale should again refuse to play us, I cannot see that our title to the championship could be disputed."

Use It in Time.

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing, an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucus discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

GOVERNOR OATES INAUGURATED

Kolb Also Takes the Oath and Is "Quietly Awaiting Developments."

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 1.—Governor-elect William C. Oates was inaugurated with the usual ceremony today. The military of the state, in accordance with the usual custom, attended on the occasion and took part in the ceremonies, but they were not ordered to come, and only those were here who came of their own volition. Kolb took the oath before a magistrate, and, in his own language, is "quietly awaiting developments."

Said a leading Populist: "Kolb and his associates on the Populist ticket will go before the state legislature and lodge a formal protest against the inauguration of Oates and ask that an investigation be authorized by that body. It is necessary to make the protest in this way because there is no contest law in the state, a condition which does not exist in any other state in the union. We have forty-four members in and the Democrats have eighty-nine. If we get twenty Democrats to help us it will force an investigation and put Mr. Kolb in the gubernatorial chair. We will abide by the investigating committee's decision, no matter what it may be, just so we have an opportunity to bring persons and papers and show before the country the evidences of fraud which we assert was practiced in the last election."

W. C. OATES. R. F. KOLB.

Ambassador Bayard's Popularity.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—Mr. Bayard presided last night at the 230th anniversary of the Scottish Corporation. The American ambassador's popularity, which has always been great in England, has been greatly increased since the report of his famous Delaware speech. A special compliment was paid to him in asking him to take the chair last night. Never in the long history of the Scottish Corporation has a similar compliment been paid to any other foreign ambassador or minister. Those who have previously presided at this banquet have always been the highest peers and statesmen of the realm.

He agrees to pay all depositors, and District Attorney Burleigh has telegraphed the New York authorities to drop all proceedings there. Steps will be taken to have the receiver for Irwin dismissed.

Dr. Pope's Protest Snubbed.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 1.—In the house of representatives yesterday the protest of Dr. Sampson Pope, defeated Independent candidate, against the election of John Gary Evans for governor, was thrown out. The house refused to even have it heard read. Pope could get no member to introduce the protest and asked the speaker to do it for him. The speaker stated this, but said he could not present it under the rules.

North Carolina's Returning Board.

Rebecca Wilkinson, of Brownsvalley, Ind., says: "I have been in a distressed condition for three years from nervousness, weakness of the stomach, dyspepsia and indigestion until my health was gone. I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely medicine; a few bottles of it have cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." FINANCE AND TRADE

As Viewed by the Two Leading Commercial Agencies.

SHARP REVIVAL IN PRICES SHOWN.

In Central Western States and in the New England and Middle Atlantic States a Material Gain in the Demand for Seasonable Staples Is Reported.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Bradstreets' review of trade says: There is no general or radical improvement in business at the south, southwest or the northwest. But in central western states, and particularly at some important cities in the old Middle and New England states the reverse is true, material gain in demand for many seasonable staples having shown itself, with a corresponding increase in volumes of goods distributed or orders for future delivery. This is independent of the stimulus to trade in certain lines due to the approaching holidays, and in spite of the check to the volume of general business within the week caused by the Thanksgiving holiday.

A sharp revival in prices is shown by quotations for some grades of lumber, but more particularly for cotton, wheat, oats and lard, improving prices of the first two of which having had an influence for good. Decreases in prices of steel rails and bars, cattle, hogs, Indian corn and naval stores are reported, but quotations for structural iron, rice, whisky, tobacco, pork, coffee and sugar are steady.

New England woolen mills are generally well supplied with spring orders. At Philadelphia some worsted spinners have had to refuse orders for immediate delivery, and textile manufacturers report good orders for delivery after Jan. 1. The eastern manufacturing jewelry trade is smaller than in October and September, but the wholesale dry goods business is much larger in November than October, and their is a better feeling among textile manufacturers.

A stimulating influence of a purely statistical nature is the decrease of 2,008,000 bushels of wheat in the quantity afloat for and in store in Europe last week, thus nearly overcoming the increase of 2,128,000 bushels of wheat available in the United States and Canada last week.

Speculation in the New York stock market displays little response to the success of the government bond issue, the influence of the large over subscription being overcome by the failure of foreign interests to obtain any considerable share of the new issue.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review says: The complete success of the government loan and the replenishment of the gold reserve have not perceptibly affected business nor prevented an advance of foreign exchange near to the exporting point. As January interest has soon to be met and the operations of the syndicate are thought likely to prevent much selling of bonds to foreigners, some exports of gold are not improbable. Meanwhile domestic trade and industry have not been little influenced by the heavy defalcation in one bank and minor disorders in two others, nor by the failure of the Erie railway to meet interest on its bonds.

The closing sugar refineries will diminish the industrial force more than it is increased by the resumption of the Bethlehem steel works and a few other concerns. The controlling fact is that, although in two instances wages have been increased, the earnings of the working force and its purchasing power are not on the whole enlarging at present, and prices of the chief farm products do not materially improve.

Failures this week have been 289 in the United States, against 271 for the same week last year, and 36 in Canada, against 48 last year.

Colonel Jacques Sent to Prison.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—In the central criminal court Colonel Jacques, the agent for the American claimants to the Townley estate, was found guilty of fraud, and sentenced to twenty months' imprisonment at hard labor. A similar sentence was imposed upon Howell Thomas, solicitor for Colonel Jacques, who was convicted of fraudulent practices a short time ago.

The Weather.

For eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, conditions favorable for showers; warmer; winds mostly southeast. Rain, with rising temperature, is indicated for the Middle Atlantic and New England states, the southern lake region, the Ohio and upper Mississippi valleys. In the southern states and the northwest the weather will continue fair.

CRADLED ACHILLES.

THE TINY RIVULET THAT DEVELOPS INTO THE MIGHTY MISSISSIPPI.

Dr. Elliott Coues' Recent Observations on the True Source of the Father of Waters—Six Miles From Lake Itasca the Great River Rises From the Ground.

Dr. Elliott Coues, the somewhat eccentric ornithologist, scientist and theologist, recently visited the headwaters of the Mississippi river and confirmed the previous report of Nicollet and Brower that the real source of the Father of Waters is the Cradled Achilles, a small stream that rises from springs about six miles from Lake Itasca and flows into the lake. An attempt was recently made by Captain Glazier to show that the real source of the Mississippi was a small lake he modestly named Lake Glazier, but Dr. Coues has verified in the minutest particulars the observations of Nicollet and Brower.

Starting at Deer lake, Itasca county, Minn., Dr. Coues proceeded up the river to Lake Itasca in a birch bark canoe. He reached the lake after ten days' paddling through an unbroken wilderness, and camping at Schoolcraft island in the lake he made a thorough exploration of the vicinity. Lake Itasca is a beautiful sheet of water in the very heart of the primeval forest and some 1,470 feet above the sea level. The whole Itascan basin, comprising some 35 square miles, has been set apart as a public park by the state of Minnesota, and game and timber are both protected from depredations. The lake is about three miles long, is shaped like the head of an elk and was once called Elk lake by the Indians. Dr. Coues found where the Cradled Achilles entered the lake and followed the stream until it was so narrow he could step across it.

Lake Itasca was discovered about 1803 by William Morrison, a fur trader who was little interested in the subject. In 1832 Henry R. Schoolcraft, the historian, and his party were guided to the lake by an Indian, and Schoolcraft named it Lake Itasca from parts of the Latin words "Veritas caput," signifying in very poor Latin the "true head" of the Mississippi. Schoolcraft and his party were satisfied that they had found the true source of the great river, but four years later the French explorer, J. N. Nicollet, found the small stream which he called the Cradled Achilles and which he declared was the real infant Mississippi. He also mapped the entire Itascan basin with such accuracy that the observations of subsequent explorers merely confirmed every report he made concerning the region. One of the oddest facts concerning the source of the great river is that the Mississippi flows due north for 50 miles before beginning its grand rush south toward the gulf of Mexico, some 2,555 miles distant.

Not many years ago another complete survey of the Itascan region was made by Hon. J. V. Brower under the auspices of the Minnesota State Historical society, and through the efforts of the society the state was induced to preserve the interesting region in its natural state by reserving it for a state park.

"The whole subject," says Dr. Coues, "was befogged and thrown into dispute by a certain Captain Glazier, who, apparently for no other purpose than to advertise himself, published his alleged discovery of a new and true source of the Mississippi. By reducing the size of Lake Itasca, ignoring Nicollet's Cradled Achilles, magnifying a small side lake, which he called Lake Glazier, and by stretching out one of the feeders of the latter he produced a distorted map which actually imposed on the Royal Geographical Society of Great Britain. My recent investigations have verified the observations of Nicollet and Brower, and I walked along the bed of the stream termed the infant Mississippi by Captain Glazier and walked dry shod, for the stream was dried up."

Dr. Coues' statements carry decided weight for the reason that he ranks high among the scientists of the United States. He was born in Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 9, 1842, and was graduated from Columbian university an A. B. in 1861 and an M. D. in 1863. He then served a year in hospital work in Washington. He was appointed an assistant surgeon in the United States army, and while on duty in Arizona made valuable researches concerning the natural history of the region. In 1873 he did valuable work as surgeon and naturalist of the United States northern boundary survey commission, and in 1876 he was secretary and naturalist of the geological and geographical survey of the territories. He was elected to the National Academy of Sciences in 1877 and belongs to nearly all the important scientific societies of the United States and Europe. He has written many books on ornithology, zoology and kindred subjects, contributed 40,000 words and six years' work to the Century Dictionary and of late years has been an enthusiastic theosophist.

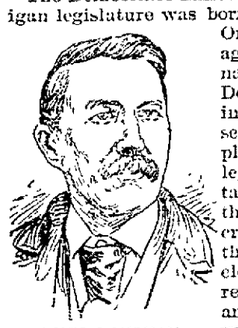
JOHN DONOVAN OF BAY.

He Is the Entire Democratic Minority In the Coming Michigan Legislature.

The Democratic minority in the Michigan legislature was born in Hamilton, Ont., 51 years ago and bears the name of John Donovan. During the coming session he will play a game of legislative solitaire, for he was the only Democratic member of the legislature elected when the recent Republican cyclone swept over the country.



JOHN DONOVAN.

He will hold all the party caucuses, dictate the party membership of committees and cast the entire party vote for United States senators when successors to the late Senator Stockbridge and Senator James McMillan are chosen. He is all that is left of the noble Democratic six hundred after the recent Michigan Balaklava. Mr. Donovan will creditably represent his party, for he is a man of sterling integrity and a total abstainer, although not a prohibitionist.

He crossed to the United States when a small boy and grew to manhood in Youngstown, N. Y., where he obtained a good education and earned a livelihood as a teacher in the public schools. Twenty-one years ago he married a Jamestown (N. Y.) girl, and their only child died at the age of 8 years. In 1865 Mr. Donovan removed to Michigan, where he taught public and parochial schools for a number of years. He then became a builder in Bay City, did his work conscientiously and has become well off in this world's goods. He is a Catholic and a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Catholic Mutual Benefit association. He is a resident of a strong A. P. A. district, but this fact did not prevent his election.

During the recent campaign he conducted a canvass that was remarkable for honesty. He refused to donate to strikers and political clubs, and even refrained from "setting up" drinks and cigars for "the boys," declaring that if he could not be elected without buying votes he did not desire to go to Lansing. He promises to make his presence felt in the legislature even if he is a single Democrat among 131 Republicans. The Sweet Singer of Michigan or some other equally gifted poet of the Wolverene State has thus immortalized Donovan in verse:

A green spot in the desert, an islet in the sea,
A single small green leaflet upon a blasted tree,
A Crusoe minus Friday, a bright spot in a cave,
The man without a party, the boss without a slave,
The chief without an army, an estate without an heir,
A prisoner in a dungeon at a game of solitaire,
The unlit earth with but a single tantalizing ray
Is not by half so lonely as John Donovan of Bay.

WOMEN WHO HOLD OFFICE.

Three Have Been Elected to Colorado's Legislature.

The equal suffrage experiment is having a thorough trial in Colorado, and one of the results of the recent political battle was the election of three women to the legislature, and a fourth was chosen superintendent of public instruction. Mrs. Angenette J. Peavey, the new superintendent of public instruction, is a woman of considerable ability and force of character. She was left a widow during the war and has since supported herself and her daughters by teaching school and doing newspaper work. She has been a resident of Colorado about ten years and was placed on the Republican ticket during the recent campaign because of her activity in organizing Republican clubs among the women voters.

Mrs. Clara Cressingham, one of the fair members of the lower branch of the legislature, is a daughter of a prominent citizen of Brooklyn. Her husband was compelled to locate in Colorado on account of his health, and since she became a resident of Denver she has been prominent in bettering the condition of the schools in her district. During the campaign she took to the stump and that she made a very favorable impression upon the voters is evidenced by the fact that she was elected.

Mrs. Frances Klock, another member of the legislature, is a native of North Lee, Mass. At the age of 15 she removed with her parents to Fon du Lac, Wis. Her father fell fighting for the Union at Vicksburg, her brother died in the service, and her husband rose from the ranks to a captaincy, but left the army with shattered health. The couple removed to Colorado, where Mrs. Klock has since been prominently identified with the Woman's Relief corps of the G. A. R. She received a heavy soldier vote.

Mrs. Carrie C. Holly of Pueblo, the third representative, lived in New York until a few years ago, when she removed to Colorado.

Mrs. ABELL INTERVIEWED

A STORY FROM A SYRACUSE LADY.

Suffered from Heart Trouble, Liver Complaint and Rheumatism, and was Cured.

From Syracuse (N. Y.) Herald.

The efficacy of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was never more substaintially proven—and its testimonials reach into the thousands—than in the case of Mrs. C. S. Abell of this city.

Mrs. Abell lives at No. 114 Roberts avenue, where she was seen by a reporter who had heard of her case. She talked freely of what she termed a most "marvelous" cure. She said:

"For a number of years I have been troubled with a liver complaint that made me almost helpless at times. Complications set in, among them rheumatism, and I became so ill I could scarely walk across the floor without aid. I consulted one of our home physicians, who informed me that I had heart trouble, and began treating me for that. The treatment did no good, and I became convinced that he did not understand my case. One day I picked up a newspaper and read of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, which I purchased, and began taking and improved greatly. I have now taken six bottles, and was never so well in my life. I can say nothing but kinds words for Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, to which I owe so much. I know of another case in which Favorite Remedy restored to health a friend of mine who was thought to be incurable."

Mrs. Abell said she would be glad to describe her case to any sufferer who may call upon her. The family are quite as profuse in their praise of Favorite Remedy, as Mrs. Abell herself.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is a never failing specific in diseases of the skin, liver, kidneys and blood. It restores the disordered liver to a healthy condition and corects constipation. It is a certain cure for the salt rheum, erysipelas nervousness, loss of sleep, or that worn out feeling. In cases of rheumatism, dyspepsia, gravel, Bright's disease, diabetes and bladder troubles, it has cured where all else failed. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold by all dealers in medicine at $1.00 a bottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

JOHNSON.

The Village Shoemaker—Improvements—To Fill the Milk Company's Ice Houses—Milk Shipments—Water Buckets in Barns—Why a Ready Scribe Is Sometimes Silent—Other Notes.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—Johnson boasts of having a first class shoemaker once more. His name is John Wagner, and he hails from Campbell Hall. He has taken apartments in G. M. Clark's hardware building, and is making bids for work in his line.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood, of Milford, Pa., are spending a week visiting relatives and friends here.

—Our bustling merchant, I. R. Drake, is preparing to build an addition to his store sheds for the accommodation of his patrons.

—M. H. C. Gardner is putting the finishing touches on a large new wagon house.

—The New York Condensed Milk Company has contracted with E V. R Gardner, of Westtown, to furnish ice to fill its houses again this winter.

—At present there are but five dairies going direct to New York from this station, while but two go from Wawayanda station. Just 100 go to the New York Condensed Milk Company's factory here.

—Two years ago M. A. Lain was the only dairyman in the section roundabout Johnson who had patent water buckets with fresh running water in his buildings for his stock. But this is a progressive age, and some half a dozen or more of his neighbors, having seen the good results of keeping cattle in the stables in severe weather, have followed Mr. Lain's example and are now putting in the buckets, while some others, who are not quite satisfied yet, are giving the matter serious thought.

—News seems to be very scarce around Johnson, and hard for any one but the talented correspondent of the Press to scrape up. But you know he has—in fact always had—a knack of jotting down minor notes in the most gorgeous style of modern and methodical English. So little difficulty does he experience in the composi ion of his essays that he fairly sings it off, as it were, and words flow freely from his pen; but when he discusses politics and grows eloquent over Republican supremacy, he hesitates, when he thinks of his own late ambitions, aspirations and fallen hopes, and heaves an involuntary sigh and swallows a tone or two, which of course produces musical appendicitis, and then we don't hear from him again in several weeks.

—Mr. Daniel Callahan, of Wawayanda Station, has rented the W. W. Wickham farm, near Ridgebury, and will take possession March 1st. Several other changes are also announced.

—Mrs. D. J. Purdy and son are visiting relatives and friends at Croton Falls, N. Y.

—An effort is being made to start religious services at Gardnerville, but the demand for ministers to preach seems to be greater than the supply.

OBSERVER.

OFFICERS OF THE HOUSE.

Several Candidates for Positions in the Fifty-fourth Congress.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—There are already several candidates in the field for the principal offices in the house of representatives of the next congress. Secretary Humphrey, of the Republican League of Clubs, is the latest aspirant for the clerkship, his competitors so far suggested being Secretary McKee, of the Republican congressional campaign committee, Representative-at-large McDowell of Pennsylvania and Representative Henderson of Illinois.

General Henderson's name has been also mentioned in connection with the office of sergeant-at-arms, and he does not appear to have yet decided which of the places to make an effort for. It is also understood that Colonel H. L. Swords, sergeant-at-arms of the National Republican committee, would like to be made sergeant-at-arms of the house

For doorkeeper the name of Congressman Houk, of Tennessee, is being canvassed, and it is stated that the Kentucky Republican representatives will probably have a man for the office, though no name is mentioned.

In the clerkship contest it is considered probable that McDowell will have the support of the Pennsylvania delegation. Mr. Humphrey's home has heretofore been in Ohio, but his work for the league has taken him from the state. Captain McKee will make his fight largely on the strength of the work he has done as clerk of the campaign committee.

Intercollegiate Gymnastic Association.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The preliminary organization of the Intercollegiate Gymnastic association was formed at a meeting held at the Fifth Avenue hotel last evening. D. H. Perkins, of the University of Pennsylvania, was elected temporary chairman, and A. G. Bugbee, Dartmouth, temporary secretary. The other colleges represented were Trinity, University of the City of New York and Rutgers. It is confidently expected that a majority of the following colleges will eventually join the new organization: Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Amherst, Williams, Cornell, Stevens Institute, Lehigh, Swarthmore, State College, Haverford, Union College, University of Chicago, University of Illinois, University of Minnesota and University of Virginia.

Train Wreckers in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 1.—A successful attempt was made to wreck the incoming train on the South Carolina and Georgia railroad. Some one had thrown the switch one mile from the Kingville station, twenty-five miles from Columbia, and wedged it tightly so that the train was thrown from the track. The engine was tossed aside, the cars following. When the cars were rolling over, the lamps and stoves set them on fire, and within a quarter of an hour they were wrapped in flames. The loss is placed at $35,000. All the baggage and express cars were destroyed, with their contents. Strange to say, not one of the crew or the twelve passengers were injured.

The Cost of the Army.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The annual report of Secretary Lamont shows a saving of half a million dollars in salaries and contingent expenses in the administration of the war department at Washington, besides economies in the recruiting service, rents, etc. Expenditures for the last fiscal year were $56,034,000, appropriations for the current year are $52,429,112, and estimates for the next year are $52,318,629. On Oct. 1 the army numbered: Officers, 2,136; enlisted men, 25,772. Of the latter, for various causes, only 20,114 were effective. Secretary Lamont earnestly recommends a return to the law of 1870, fixing at 30,000 the limit of the army.

Unprovoked Assaults by Negroes.

FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 1.—Richard J Durrow and William W. Lease, prominent merchants of this place, were brutally beaten by colored men at different hours during Thursday night. Mr. Lease was accompanied by his wife. Mrs. Ann Batson, who went for help when Mr. Lease was being assaulted, was set upon by the negro and knocked senseless with a club. George Willard, the negro who assaulted Mr Durrow, is in jail. He was captured after a desperate fight with officers.

The affair has created great scandal, as he belongs to a good family and is a man of prominence in this section of the state.

Reducing Coal Production.

DAILY ARGUS.

C. MACARDELL, PUBLISHER

GEORGE H. THOMPSON, C. MACARDELL, } EDITORS
J. F. ROBINSON, CITY EDITOR
A. E. NICKINSON. BUSINESS MANAGER

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1894.

The confidence with which the liquor dealers of the large cities look for what they call "liberal" excise legislation at the hands of the Republican majority in the Legislature warrants the belief that they received very definite assurances from the Republican campaign managers as their price for giving their support to the "reform" movement.

Witnesses examined, yesterday, before the State Board of Arbitration in its investigation of the cloak makers' strike, had but one story to tell, that of wages ground down to the starvation point. One poor wretch testified that by working from 4:45 in the morning until 10 o'clock at night he was able to make a weekly pittance of $3 90, out of which to keep a wife and four children. And yet, we prate of the pauper labor of Europe!

A petition of the business men of Denver to the Governor of Colorado, asking that the gamblers be allowed to open their places, was signed by the presidents of two of the banks and by leading merchants in different branches of trade. Some of the signers are church members and active workers in the Y. M. C. A. To us of the East this seems very strange, but after all, morals, as Hancock said of the tariff, are "only a local issue," and what is regarded as most reprehensible in one locality is often tolerated, if not encouraged, in another.

Governor-elect Morton's military staff was announced, yesterday. As expected, ability and willingness to contribute to Republican campaign funds, rather than the interests of the National Guard have been considered in the bestowal of these honors. Archibald Rogers and John Jacob Astor, although they have never been in the military service of the State, are made aides de camp, with the rank of colonel, The selection of Dr. Terry, of Utica, as Surgeon-General, is of importance, since it will give homeopathic physicians an opportunity to secure commissions as surgeons of regiments and separate companies, which has been denied them of recent years, under an allopathic surgeon-general.

A FAMILY RE UNION.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Beattie Celebrate Their Thirtieth Marriage Anniversary.

Yesterday was the thirtieth anniversary of the marriage of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles Beattie and the occasion was celebrated by a family re-union at the parsonage, which was attended by all the members of Dr. Beattie's family, except one sister. Miss Fannie Beattie, of Salisbury, who was kept at home by illness. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Asa LeFevre, of Forest Glen; Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Thompson, of Thompson Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Farnum, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Caldwell and Mrs. O. N. Bate, of Salisbury, all of whom were accompanied by their children; Rev R. H. Beattie, of Newburgh, and his fiancee, Miss Carolyn Weller, of that city; Mr. and Mrs. Howell Tobias, of Salisbury, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Beattie; Miss Mildred A. Thompson, of Thompson Ridge; Miss Helen Finley, of Salisbury, and Mr. E. A. Sommer, of Tonawanda, a college friend of Mr. R Brewster Beattie.

Dr. and Mrs. Beattie were presented by their children with handsome dining room chairs and by their brothers and sisters with a beautiful banquet lamp.

The day was most delightfully spent in social intercourse and in reviving family reminiscences and the occasion will long be held in pleasant remembrance by all who were present.

THE GREAT FOOTBALL GAME.

Most Unfavorable Weather for the Yale-Princeton Game, but a Very Large Attendance—Yale the Favorite at Odds of Two to One.

BY UNITED PRESS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—All is ready for the football game. Yale and Princeton will meet each other on a gridiron covered with slush. The weather is dull and depressing, with a drizzling rain falling.

Money was in plentiful supply, this morning, Princeton men having no difficulty in placing their money. They demanded two to one, and Yale's supporters gave odds freely.

The Yale team spent a very quiet morning at the Plaza Hotel, and over at the Murray Hill Hotel the Tigers were in seclusion for the greater part of the morning. Both teams took a light lunch about 12:30 o'clock, and then left for Manhattan field, where the game will be played.

There were fully 15,000 present at Manhattan field when the game was called, which is probably five thousand less than would have been present if the weather had been half way decent.

Score first half, Yale 13, Princeton 0.

THE BACHELOR'S OPENING HOP

The Club's Twenty-ninth Season Most Successfully Inaugurated.

The twenty-ninth season of the Bachelor's Social Club was inaugurated at the Assembly Rooms, last evening. There was an unusually large attendance for an opening hop and the club starts out with every prospect of a most successful season.

Calman's orchestra, of New York city, which has been engaged for the series of weekly hops, gave excellent satisfaction and will prove a strong feature of the hop during the season.

All of the members of the club were out and a large number of ex members, who have recently joined the ranks of the Benedicts were also present.

Among those from out of town were: Misses Katie and Tillie Rogers, of Brooklyn; Miss Broadhead, of Port Jervis, and Mrs. Clara Reynolds, of Norfolk, Neb. Messrs. S. M. Beakes, J. M. Children's Clothing Again!

IS it possible that you have already forgotten what we said about children's clothing? If so, we repeat for your especial benefit. 'Twas this: We are selling our entire stock of Children's Clothing without profit. This method we have adopted because we believe that can we once serve you we shall always serve you, feeling assured we can supply you with the best goods at the lowest price attainable. We have marked the prices on the children's goods in plain figures, so you can see for yourself.

To the contrary, as has been insinuated, we are not working off old stock because we sell without profit. The stock is all new, and the same that we would have sold you at a profit had we not adopted this method.

Again:—Is it probable that we make up the profit on the other lines of stock with other clothiers in town, when we sell, as we do, below their rates? How think you?

those with clearly defined ideas as to quality and who know a good thing when they see it. It's the kind of trade for which we cater and the quality of our goods is our strong argument. In medicines there should be but one quality and that the best obtainable. That's our rule. Where do you get your prescriptions? Do they receive skill, accuracy and quality? Be particular. Bring them to us.

A WELCOME HOME.

Rev. J. W. Norris and Bride Given a Cordial Reception—Gifts from the Ladies and Ontario Hose Company.

Rev. J. W. Norris and his bride returned to Middletown on the Orange County Express, last evening, and when they reached their home on Linden avenue they found it in possession of the ladies of the North Street Congregational Church, of which Mr. Norris is pastor, and also the Ladies' Auxiliary of Ontario Hose Company, of which he is chaplain.

The happy couple received the congratulations of their friends, and were invited to participate in the excellent supper which the ladies had prepared and were ready to serve in the dining room.

Rev. Charles Beattie, in behalf of the ladies, presented Mr. and Mrs. Norris with a purse of money, and Ontarios were on hand with a handsome suite of parlor furniture.

There were numerous other presents, all of which were accepted gracefully by the happy groom.

The evening was most enjoyably spent by all who were fortunate enough to be present.

THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

The Goshen Line Practically Completed—About Fifty Laborers Discharged and Railroad Building at an End.

The work of construction of the electric road is practically completed for this winter at least. The Goshen line is about finished as far as it will go this winter, One of the construction gangs of about fifty men was discharged and paid off, yesterday, leaving only about twenty five men who will be kept a week or so longer to finish up some of the odds and ends in the way of ballasting, etc.

As there will probably be but little of the time during the winter in which track laying can be done it is not intended to attempt to build the extension to the Asylum, but this work will doubtless be done as early in the spring as is possible,

It is probable that another year may see the road extended in other directions to connect Middletown with more of the neighboring villages. Warwick, Florida and Greenwood Lake are clamoring for the road, and Bloomingburgh will surely want it. The astonishing success of the road since it was opened, last summer, and the hearty reception given it by the Goshen people, will encourage the officers to make other extensions where there is any prospect of a profitable business.

A DANGEROUS SPOT.

A Place on Canal Street Where Lamps are Needed.

The worst spot in all this city is on Canal street, at the turn of the road near the junction with Conkling street. There is a strip of woods on one side of the road and a high bank on the other, which shut out the light of the moon and stars, if there is any, and at night, Egyptian darkness prevails, rendering the place a secure one for footpads to ply their calling.

The greatest danger, however, is the narrowness and roughness of the road. It is almost impossible for teams to pass at night and several collisions have already occurred and occasionally wagons are upset.

One or more naphtha lamps should be placed on this street to prevent accidents for which the city may be called upon to pay damages.

An Ex-Motorman Takes the Pledge.

An ex-motorman made his fourth appearance in as many months, before the Recorder, this morning. AT THE COUNTY SEAT.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

The Vocal Society's Carnival—Bowling Contest—Deming's Minstrels—Other Notes.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—A carnival, under the auspices of the Goshen Vocal Society, will be given at Music Hall, Dec. 12th, 13th and 14th. A number of novel drills, —broom, scarf and dumbbells will be given. There will also be a gypsy dance, recitations, pantomime, tableaux, etc. Reserved seat tickets fifty cents. Season tickets one dollar; for sale at Millspaugh's dry goods store.

—Mr. Thos. Mould won the first of the contests for the bowling medal by an average score in ten games of 150⅗. Dr. J. H. Ward rolled the next highest score, averaging 146 2

—Trustee Kniffin is laid up at his home with an attack of quinsy.

—A fair sized audience saw and heard Deming's Minstrels at Music Hall, last evening. All who attended speak in the highest terms of the entertainment. Too much praise cannot be given to Miss Nellie O Neill, who is certainly a wonder in the line of contortion dances, and she was worthy of all the liberal applause she received. Arthur Deming came in for several encores, for his specialties took the audience by storm.

—Lizzie Diamond, a colored woman, was stricken with paralysis, yesterday. Small hopes of her recovery are entertained.

IN ANCIENT GOSHEN.

St. James's Church Has Reason to Be Thankful—Crowded Trolley Cars—Personal Mention—A Few Words Concerning Thanksgiving.

(From a Special Correspondent)

—At the Thanksgiving service the rector announced that the debt of $1,500 had, within the last year, been paid down to $150, and that he had been guaranteed that the remainder of the obligation should be cleared away at Christmas time, thus enabling the church to begin the new year freed from that incumbrance.

—The cars on the trolley line between Middletown and Goshen were crowded almost to suffocation on Thanksgiving Day.

—Mr. Murray Sayer and family, of Brooklyn, spent Thanksgiving at the home of J. W. Gott, in this village.

—Master Charles F. Duryea, who is attending the military academy at Cornwall, is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, in this village.

—We certainly owe the Puritans something for having originated Thanksgiving Day. The writer has wondered sometimes whether the flavor of their turkey and pumpkin pie was improved by the thought of the Quakers whose ears they had cut off and whose backs they had scored at the cart's tail, because they had exercised a little of that "freedom to worship God," in search of which our grim ancestors came to this country and which, according to the late Mrs. Hemans, they "left unstained." Well, "it's a poor heart that never rejoices," and the pleasures of those early days were necessarily simple and primitive ones.

—How close is the companionship between joy and sorrow in this world we can realize no better perhaps than by looking carefully through one day's issue of one of our great newspapers. In close proximity to an account of a high social function, a few lines will mention the death of some starving outcast. The death and marriage notices are in the same column. We may be so susceptible as to shed tears over a tragedy on the stage or a pathetic chapter in a book, but we do not often stop to consider how sad is the story sometimes told in a brief newspaper item. A foreigner comes to this country to find work to support his family, and is finally able to send for them. The vessel reaches its port with the happy, expectant wife and little ones, but no one meets them. The frantic woman, after many inquiries, learns that a man of the same name as her husband has been killed in an accident a few days before, and she hastens to his boarding place to meet the funeral procession issuing from the door. Could any five act tragedy be more full of heart-break than the story of this poor woman left husbandless and penniless in a strange land? The thought of it surely ought to make any one who is tolerably comfortable exclaim with old Aunt Chloe in "Uncle Tom's Cabin:" "Let's thank the Lord for our marcies." G. H.

Disagreement of the Jury in the Parker Skimmilton Case.

The jury in the case of Florence Bond Parker, charged with manslaughter in killing Alonzo Phillips, one of the skimmelton party that was attacking her house at Afton, Chenango county, after being out twenty-two hours, were unable to reach an agreement and were discharged. The trial of the case occupied twelve days and entailed great expense on the county. The case is not likely to be tried again for it is not probable that a conviction can be secured.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 105 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Gaylock, Brighton, N. Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

A SONG OF SUMMER TIME.

Oh, the swaying of the branches and the flitting through the trees,
And the music of the voices that come upon the breeze!
Oh, the singing and the winging of the birds that come and go,
And the frisking of the squirrels as they scamper to and fro!
Oh, the ferns and mossy carpets, and the waters dark and cool
That go stealing through the shadows from some clear, unsullied pool!
Oh, the trilling of the songsters
From the branches and the grass,
And the glancing of the sunlight
On the waters as we pass!

Oh, the glancing of the sunlight as it strikes the waters clear,
And the singing of the thrushes, and the other songs we hear!
Oh, the boating and the floating on the waters of the lake,
And the ripples and the shadows that go dancing from our wake!
Oh, the breezy days of pleasure, and the pleasant nights to dream,
When the stars look down and twinkle, and the winged lanterns gleam!
Oh, the summers in the country,
Where the songsters nest and sing,
And the pleasure without measure
That the woods and waters bring!

MARIE.

During the "reign of terror" in France there were many deeds of daring performed, even by women, and many noble examples of affection exhibited.

The very streets of Paris were deluged with human blood, but near the guillotine it ran in gushing torrents.

One dark morning an unusual number of the aristocracy had been marched forth, and countless heads rolled from the block.

A gaping multitude stood by, and with shouts rent the air as the aristocracy were thus butchered.

Among the assembled multitude that dreary morning were two women. One of them was plainly clad, while a cloak was thrown around her, with which she kept her features nearly concealed.

But a close observation would betray the fact that the woman had been weeping.

Her eyes were inflamed and red, and she gazed eagerly upon the platform, while a shudder passed over her frame as each shock of the glittering knife severed the head from the body of some one who had been unfortunate enough to fall under the ban of the leaders.

The face of the woman was very beautiful, and she was young, certainly not more than 16 or 18 years of age.

The other woman was quite different in character. Her face was fair, but there was a brazen expression about it. She was clad in rags, and as each head fell she would dance, and in various ways express her delight, and then exclaim:

"There falls another aristocrat who refused me charity when I humbly sued to him!"

Each expression of the kind would create a laugh from those who heard her, but any thoughtful person must wonder how one so young could have become so depraved.

The first woman watched this creature for a few moments, and then pressing her way to her side she laid her hand upon the shoulder of the wretch and whispered:

"Would you like to become rich at once?"

The woman in rags turned about with a look of surprise, burst into a loud laugh and then replied:

"Of course I would."

"Follow me, and you shall be."

"Enough. Lead on."

It was with considerable difficulty that the females extricated themselves from the crowd, but they did so at length, and then the first woman asked of the other:

"What shall I call you?"

"Oh, I'm called the beggar girl Marie!"

"You live by begging?"

"Yes; but what's your name, and what do you want?"

"My name is Marie, the same as your own."

"Are you an aristocrat?"

"It does not matter. If you know where we can find a room, lead me to it, and you shall have gold."

The pauper led the way into a narrow and filthy street and then down into a cellar and into a dark and filthy room.

The other woman could not but feel a sickening sensation creep over her, but she recovered herself. After contemplating for a time the apartment and what it contained she asked:

"Are you well known in Paris?"

"Yes, everybody knows Marie, the beggar girl."

"Are you known to Robespierre? If so, I want to make a bargain with you."

"I am. What do you wish?"

"You see my clothing is better than your own, and I wish to exchange with you. I want you to consent to remain here, and not to show yourself at all for a short time, or until I come to you again. As recompense for aiding me I will give you 1,000 francs, and when I come back I will give you 1,000 more. As security for my return, take this ring."

The lady drew a diamond ring from her finger and gave it to the beggar girl. Then she handed her a purse containing gold.

The girl appeared a little puzzled and asked:

"Well, what are you going to do with my dress?"

"I want to put it on and go where I first met you."

"Oh, I understand now. You want to see the chopping go on, and you are afraid you will be taken for an aristocrat if you wear that dress. You want to represent me?"

"Yes. I want to look as near like you as possible."

"Well, that won't be very difficult. Your hair and eyes and even your mouth are like mine. Your face is too white, though. But you can alter that with a little dirt."

They exchanged dresses, and soon the young, rich and noble Marie de Nantes was clad in the rags of Marie, the beggar girl of Paris.

The history of Marie de Nantes was a sad one. Her father and two brothers had fallen victims to the remorseless fiends of the revolution, and a third and last brother had been seized. But of his fate she was ignorant, although she expected that it would be similar to that of her other relatives. He had been torn from her side but a few hours before.

After the exchange had been made the pauper looked on the stockingless and shoeless feet and ankles of the lady and said:

"That will never do. Your feet are too white and delicate. Let me arrange matters."

In a few moments Marie was prepared, and in the filth and rags she emerged into the street.

She now took her course back toward the guillotine, and at length reached the square where the bloody work was still going on.

Gradually she forced her way through the crowd, and nearer and nearer she came to the scaffold.

She even forced a laugh at several remarks she heard around her, but these laughs sounded strangely.

She now stood within a few feet of the platform and swept it with her eyes, but her brother was not there.

The cry was now raised:

"Here comes another batch!"

Her heart fluttered violently, and she felt a faintness come over her as she heard the tramp of the doomed men approaching.

Her brother walked proudly and fearlessly forward and ascended the very steps which led to the block.

Up to this moment the strength of poor Marie had failed her, and she was unable to put her resolve into execution.

But now a sister's love swelled up in her breast, and she recovered her strength.

She sprang forward, bursting through the line of guards, and ran up the steps.

Grasping her brother by the hand, she cried:

"What does this mean? It is only the aristocrats that are to die!"

"Away, woman!" exclaimed one of the executioners.

"No; I will not away until you tell me why my brother is here and thus bound."

"Your brother?" was the echo.

"Yes, this is my brother."

"Well, who are you?"

"I am Marie; don't you know me?"

"The beggar girl?"

"Aye."

"But this is not your brother?"

"It is. Ask him—ask him."

Young Antonio de Nantes had turned a scornful gaze upon the maiden, but a light passed across his face, and he murmured:

"Oh, my sister!"

"Is this your brother?" asked Robespierre of the supposed beggar, advancing near her.

"It is."

"But his name is down differently."

"Then you are mistaken. He is my brother. Ask him."

"Does Marie speak the truth?" asked Robespierre.

"She does," was the brother's reply.

"And you are not De Nantes?"

"I tell you I am her brother."

"Why did you not tell us this before?"

"I attempted to speak, but was silenced."

"But you might have declared yourself."

"You would not have believed me."

"But your dress?"

"It belonged to an aristocrat, perhaps to him for whom I was taken."

Robespierre advanced close to young Nantes and gazed earnestly into his face. Then he approached Marie and looked steadily in her eyes for a short time.

It was a moment of trial for the poor girl. She trembled in spite of all her efforts to be calm. She almost felt that she was lost, when the human fiend, whose word was law, turned and said:

"Release the man."

The chains were instantly removed, and Antonio de Nantes walked down from the scaffold, followed by his sister, while the shouts of those around rent the air, for they supposed it was a commoner who had thus been saved.

The young man worked his way through the crowd as rapidly as possible, leading Marie.

They had scarcely escaped it before the poor girl fainted from the intensity of her feelings.

The brother scarcely knew what to do, but a hand was laid upon his arm, and a voice said:

"Bring her to my room again. She will be safe there."

The brother conveyed her to the apartment of the pauper and asked of her:

"Have you seen the woman before?"

"Yes, I know all about it," returned the pauper. "She borrowed my clothes to save her lover. She has done it, and I am glad."

Before the noble sister returned to consciousness the brother had learned all.

When she did so, they both sought secure quarters after rewarding the beggar girl, as had been promised.

"Do you think Robespierre was really deceived?" asked Marie de Nantes.

"I think not," returned the brother.

"Then why did he order your release?"

"He saw your plan; he admired your courage. Could a fiend have done less?"

"Perhaps this was the case. But it so it was a deed of mercy and the only one that man ever did."

Antonio de Nantes was not again arrested and lived happily with that sister who had so nobly imperiled her own life to save him by representing the beggar girl of Paris.—Pleasant Hours.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

The fac-simile signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. is on every wrapper.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

TOO SURE.

He Didn't Think He Had It, but He Did All the Same.

"What a lot of humbug there is about this vermiform appendix business!" exclaimed Ruggles, looking up from the newspaper he was reading. "The idea that everybody is in danger of dying from getting a grape seed or a bit of apple skin lodged in a portion of his anatomy that few persons ever heard of till a few years ago is absurd. It's a fad. That's what it is."

"What's a fad?" inquired Croxton, laying aside the magazine he had been reading.

"This appendicitis business."

"It's something everybody's remotely exposed to, isn't it?"

"Not by any means. It isn't at all certain that everybody has got a vermiform appendix."

"Oh, isn't it?"

"Not at all. I don't believe I have one."

"Well, you have, just the same. You are built like other men."

"I don't believe it."

"You say you have no vermiform appendix?"

"I do, and I'm willing to bet on it."

"How much?"

"Fifty dollars."

Croxton reflected a moment.

"I'll go you."

"And leave the matter to a doctor—my doctor, for instance?"

"Yes."

"Well, you've lost. My doctor will tell you I haven't any." He relieved me of it by an operation two years ago."

"It looks as if you'd put up a neat little job on me, doesn't it?"

"Rather. But I'll not be hard. I'll call it a new silk hat and let it go at that."

"H'm. Your doctor relieved you of your vermiform appendix, did he?"

"He did."

"And I suppose he preserved it carefully in a jar of alcohol?"

"No, but I did."

"H'm! Got it yet?"

"Yes."

"Ha! You have!"

"That is, I—er"—

"That's what I suspected. Your little scheme isn't exactly the first of its kind, but there's a way out of it, you see."

"But, look here"—

"Don't try to crawl out of it, Ruggles. You bet me $50 you hadn't any vermiform appendix, and it seems you have by your own confession. There was nothing stipulated as to where you kept it. The horse isn't on me. It's on you, Ruggles. But I won't be hard on you. Let it be a first class canvasback duck and terrapin dinner for two, with extras. That'll make it easy. It won't come to more than $20 or so."

"Croxton," said Ruggles feebly, "let's arbitrate."—Chicago Tribune.

A Hero.

His name has n'er been noised abroad.
I know not if he ever scaled
A wall in battle, if before
The cannon's mouth he would have quailed,
But when I saw one deed he did,
Oh, as a hero him I hailed!

To look at him one ne'er would dream
That daring was his strongest hold;
That in the face of danger he
Would prove himself perhaps o'erbold
And for rash courage place himself
Beside the valiant men of old.

I know not if, unterrified,
He'd meet the lion in its lair,
Or put his head, like Daniel,
Within its mouth, yet did he dare
To put his head in woman's hands
And let his sweetheart cut his hair!

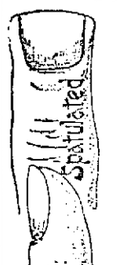
WHAT YOUR THUMB TELLS.

Square Type.



The thumb is an unfailing index of character. The Square Type indicates a strong will, great energy and firmness. Closely allied is the Spatulated Type, the thumb of those of advanced ideas and business ability. Both of these types belong to the busy man or woman; and Demorest's Family Magazine prepares especially for such persons a whole volume of new ideas, condensed in a small space, so that the record of the whole world's work for a month may be read in half an hour. The Conical Type indicates refinement, culture, and a love of music, poetry, and fiction. A person with this type of thumb will thoroughly enjoy the literary attractions of Demorest's Magazine. The Artistic Type indicates a love of beauty and art, which will find rare pleasure in the magnificent oil-picture of roses, 10½ x 24 inches, reproduced from the original painting by De Longpré, the most celebrated of living flower-painters, which will be given to every subscriber to Demorest's Magazine for 1895. The cost of this superb work of art was $350.00; and the reproduction cannot be distinguished from the original. Besides this, an exquisite oil or water-color picture is published in each number of the Magazine, and the articles are so profusely and superbly illustrated that the Magazine is, in reality, a portfolio of art works of the highest order. The Philosophic Type is the thumb of the thinker and inventor of ideas, who will be deeply interested in those developed monthly in Demorest's Magazine, in every one of its numerous departments, which cover the entire artistic and scientific field, chronicling every fact, fancy, and fad of the day. Demorest's is simply a perfect Family Magazine, and was long ago crowned Queen of the Monthlies. Send in your subscription; it will cost only $2.00, and you will have a dozen Magazines in one. Address W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, Publisher, 15 East 14th Street, New York. Though not a fashion magazine, its perfect fashion pages, and its articles on family and domestic matters, will be of superlative interest to those possessing the Feminine Type of Thumb, which indicates in its small size, slenderness, soft nail, and smooth, rounded tip, those traits which belong essentially to the gentler sex, every one of whom should subscribe to Demorest's Magazine. If you are unacquainted with its merits, send for a specimen copy (free), and you will admit that seeing those THUMBS has put you in the way of saving time by finding in one magazine everything to satisfy the literary wants of the whole family.

—Dr. George Schonger, for forty years a practising physician in Western Sullivan, died at his home at North Branch, Tuesday, aged seventy-four years.

—The artesian well at Liberty's reservoir will be put down fifty feet deeper. A small stream of water is now flowing from the well and by going deeper the commissioners hope to obtain a more abundant supply.

—The Groton Bridge Company has contracted to build an iron bridge over the Little Beaverkill at Old Morsston. The bridge is to be seventy feet long, ten feet wide, with eighteen inch girders and will cost $950.

—The Hoffman House at White Lake, formerly known as the Corby House, has been sold to D. T. Hoffman, the present occupant. Mrs. Corby has also sold to John Grey the lot of land in front of the hotel Kaumeonga, for $5,000.

—The circulation of rumors that there was foul play in the case of Mrs. John D. Lewis, burned to death at White Sulphur Springs on the morning of Nov. 9th, led to the disinterment of the remains and the holding of an inquest by Coroner Metzger, Tuesday and Wednesday. The testimony showed that she lost her life by going back into her burning home to get some money from a closet and showed that there was no reason for the cruel reports in circulation.

—T. A. Cook has purchased between 500 and 600 acres of land of the Messrs. Reilly. He proposes to have a large dairy farm, and will erect a barn about 350 feet in length, with engine and boiler, and all the improved apparatus. One hundred acres of this land, which is all covered with timber, will be cleared each year and seeded for pasture. The Reilly Bros. reserve the timber on the tract and will soon erect a mill to cut it up as it is taken off.—Callicoon Democrat.

—The Benjamin Hill farm of 190 acres, near Liberty, has been purchased for $3,800 by the Consumptive Hospital and Dispensary of New York city, which, as soon as spring opens, will erect a large sanitarium on the property. The plans are being prepared by Prof Page, Professor of Architecture in Columbia College. It is expected to open the sanitarium in July. The purchase of the site was made, Tuesday, when a number of ladies and gentlemen interested in the consumptive hospital in New York came to Liberty in President Fowler's private car and looked over the property.

A Goshenite Celebrates the Opening of the Electric Road

Ebenezer Cable, colored, was employed as a laborer on the electric road, and upon its completion was laid off. He took his first ride on the cars yesterday, starting from his home, Goshen, and landed in this city. He was so proud of his share in the work that he proceeded to celebrate the occasion by getting loaded. The police found him back of the Erie depot fast asleep, and laid him away in the lockup. The above excuse was given to the Recorder, and the happy Goshenite was allowed to go on his way rejoicing.

LONG DISTANCE BICYCLING.

Record Breaking is Dangerous Pastime

A bicyclist has accomplished the extraordinary feat of riding from the most northern point of Scotland to the extreme southern point of England in 86 houre and 15 minutes; performing his task without indulging in one moment of sleep. He was 3 days 14 hours and 15 minutes without reclining once or resting or ceasing his active movement of propulsion, except for the briefest moments.

The modern rage for record breaking is gratified at the cost of many shortened lives. The healthy heart will beat 160 000 times, accomplishing work equal to lifting 122 tons one foot, in 24 hours: it has recently been shown that cycling tells severely and specially upon the circulation, doubling the number of strokes during such active exercise.

Aside from the extradinary strain of such persistent motion of the blood, sustained by volition of a resolute kind which prevents the nervous system from passing into that passive state we call "sleep," its practical lesson bears on the ultimate influence of extreme exercise on the bodies of young men and young women who make themselves victims of self-inflicted injuries.

The athlete is apparently none the worse for such a feat as this, but even he will have to pay a penalty for outrageing nature. These violent strains bode, in the end, the certainty of premature decrepitude, unless some compensating influence be used. When the engineer requires an extra effort from his engine he gives it increased vitality from an additional amount of fuel. The best food for the heart is Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart, which should be in possession of every bicyclist. It improves the nutrition of the heart and nerve centers, strengthening and restoring the heart's action to its normal condition.

Without some additional sustaining power of this sort, these young competitors, who otherwise might be destined for a long and active existence, will succumb and break down long before the sun of their life has reached its meridian; and so far this has practically been the fate of all those, who have endeavored under the applause of their unthinking comrades to do what nature has not constructed them for doing without great risk.—Science and Health.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill. had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Sdeaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, and the doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. BEWARE OF PNEUMONIA.

Theories as to the Cause of the Disease—How to Ward Off Its Attacks.

Dr. Cyrus Edson, Commissioner of Health for the city of New York, recently gave some valuable suggestions in relation to pneumonia, one of the most fatal diseases we have to contend with in this climate. He says:

Although more or less prevalent throughout the year, pneumonia is peculiarly dangerous during the opening months of winter. With the first frosts a very marked increase takes place in the number of cases, and during this cold, damp weather extra precautions should be taken.

Pneumonia is probably produced by an earth germ, and when frost prevails the soil beneath the house is the only ground which is not frozen. The germs gradually work toward the warm, moist earth and the house really acts as a sort of a flue, which forms a ready mode of egress for them. The proper ventilation of rooms is therefore an important factor in guarding against pneumonia, one, however, which is too often overlooked.

Lack of personal hygiene is the chief predisposing cause of the disease. Irregular hours, insufficient nourishment, dyspepsia, excessive fatigue or some disease which has lowered the general tone of the system, all weaken the power of resisting the pneumonic germ. When the system is run down, a sudden exposure to cold may prove fatal, while in a normal condition of body it would be thrown off. When a severe or sudden chill has been contracted the main thing is to act quickly, and many a serious illness can be averted and valuable life saved by a little intelligence coupled with promptitude. If possible send for a doctor immediately, and meanwhile take ten grains of quinine and five drops of spirits of camphor in a little water or on a lump of sugar. These does are for an adult. Then soak the feet in hot water and jump into bed. Simple as these remedies are, they have nipped in the bud many prospective cases of pneumonia.

While soaking the feet the body should be warmly wrapped in a blanket which should be kept on until some time after the person has entered the bed, in order that free perspiration may be continued and not checked.

MONTGOMERY.

Death of Hiram Brown — Chicken Thieves—Thanksgiving Day.

Correspondence ARGUS and MERCURY.

—Mr. Hiram Brown died at the home of George Keesler, at the National Hotel, at 5:30 a. m., Wednesday. Mr. Brown has been sick, as formerly stated in these columns, for about two months and death was due to lung troubles. He was about sixty years of age and has lived with the Keeslers, father and son, for forty-four years. He was unmarried and had two sisters and two brothers. The funeral was held at 10:30 a m. on Friday. Interment at New Prospect Cemetery.

—Chicken thieves visited the hen house of George Roney, near this village, Sunday night, and took about twenty-five chickens. It is a pity these thieves could not be caught as we are pestered with these vagrants.

—Thanksgiving Day passed off quietly here. The turkeys suffered, but amusements were scarce.

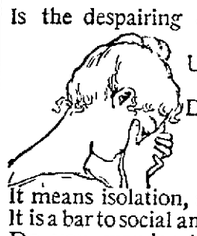
"Disfigured For Life"



Is the despairing cry of thousands afflicted with Unsightly skin diseases.

Do you realize what this disfiguration means to sensitive souls?

It means isolation, seclusion.

It is a bar to social and business success.

Do you wonder that despair seizes upon these sufferers when

Doctors fail, standard remedies fail,

And nostrums prove worse than useless?

Skin diseases are most obstinate to cure or even relieve.

It is an easy matter to claim to cure them, but quite another thing to do so.

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Have earned the right to be called Skin Specifics,

Because for years they have met with most remarkable success.

There are cases that they cannot cure, but they are few indeed.

It is no long-drawn-out, expensive experiment.
